INNOVATION AT ARTS SMOKER

Mandolin Club Add to Success of the Evening.

CLASS PINS PRESENTED

Stunts by Messrs. Osborne and F. B. Common Enthusiastically Received.

The Arts Undergraduate smoker, which took place at the Union last night was a successful one from every point of view. The efforts of those in charge were rewarded by an excellent attendance, Dean Moyse and Dr. Caldwell adding to the enjoyment of the evening by their presence. A varied and delightful programme had been prepared and was appreciated to the full by those who attended.

The first item was a selection given by the Mandolin Club, which was heartily enjoyed. C. R. Mackenzie then called on P. A. G. Clark, the newly-elected president of the Arts Undergraduate Society, to say a few words. The latter explained that he had not expected to be called on so soon after his election, but felt the honor and also the responsibility attached to the office to which he had been elected. He expressed a wish that the Arts Undergraduate Society would be as successful the next session as it had been the past term.

A feature of the smoker was the presence of the various candidates for posts on the Students' Council: Eric Cushing, Frank Common, Terry Macdermot and Don Smelzer.

Mr. Osborne, the well-known comedian, then gave a couple of extremely amusing impersonations and told several stories, which were received with approbation by all present. Dean Moyse was then called on for one of his ever-acceptable readings, and complied with the request by reading a poem written by an ex-member of the Medical Faculty, now at the front. The piece was entitled, "In Flanders Fields," and the Dean brought out to the full the simplicity and sympathy of the lines. A sonnet by Rupert Brooke followed and was heartily applauded. As everyone was eager for more, the Dean read a piece of Thomas Dekker's, called "Content," and closed his reading by an exceedingly amusing parody of Wordsworth's "We are Seven."

Another member of the Faculty, Dr. Caldwell, then lent his talent to aid in delighting and amusing the smokers. He prefaced his performance by voicing a desire that the spirit of allowing others to take the part of providing amusement be not allowed to gain hold. He wished that McGill men should be seen to take a larger share in the entertainment. "Those present were then given the delectable 'Massacre of Macpherson,' which with its 'Gaelic chorus,' caused great merriment.

C. R. Mackenzie then called for volunteers to carry on the idea expressed by Dr. Caldwell. Frank Common responded and convulsed his hearers by giving an example of the method in which history will be taught in the future by means of moving pictures, illustrating his historical romance by a musical rendering of the most thrilling moments. In answer to a hearty encore he sang a revised version of "Home, Sweet Home," which delighted everyone. "Jimmie" Rice's famous baseball tale was then rendered in a lively manner by Mr. Osborne and was received with approbation.

Class pins were presented by the Dean to the members of the sophomore class who had enlisted. Corporal "Nick" Nicholson and Jack Parthing were the only ones present, and received their pins amid hearty applause. Three cheers were given for the undergraduates who had enlisted. Dean Moyse in speaking a few words in praise of the spirit shown by the students, mentioned the fact that all his sons had enlisted. He himself, he added, only wished he were young enough to go as well.

The most welcome item of refreshments then followed and was greatly enjoyed by all. After a few moments conversation, the great event of the evening, from the students' point of view, took place—the singing of "Alouette," by the Dean. So enthusiastically was this received that the singer was compelled to respond to a desire that he repeat the performance. The college hymn was then sung, after which "God Save the King," terminated a most enjoyable evening.

REFORD CUP CONTEST.

Candidates for the Reford Cup Public Speaking Contest which is held annually by the Literary and Debating Society, are still receivable by P. A. G. Clark, secretary of the Lit. The contest will be held on March 15 and the subject will be announced upon the morning of that day. It is chosen by the Honorary I.U.D.L. representative.

QUICK WORK OF THE ARTILLERY

Sergt.-Major Cushing Writes of its Splendid Efficiency.

GUNS ALWAYS LOADED

Within Fifteen Seconds Shells are Bursting in Trenches of the Enemy.

The remarkable efficiency of the Canadian artillery on the battlefield is fittingly shown by extracts from a letter received at the University from Sergeant-Major A. G. Cushing, Sci. '12, 27th Battery, C.P.A. Sergt.-Major Cushing writes:

"We are now in Belgium, but as the biggest part of the B.E.F. is in that country, that perhaps does not give much information. Still, it is the best I am permitted to do.

"Of course, we are not right at the trenches, but near enough for a few shells to pass over occasionally. After one has been near the line, one can make a pretty good guess as to what they are as they fly through the air. A few of their English names are: whizz-bangs, coal boxes, and Jack Johnsons. As a rule, we don't pay much attention to them till one makes a sound like it was coming near you. Then everybody automatically gets behind the nearest dugout and waits expectantly. If only one or two shells come your way, all's well, but if you find the enemy knows you're there and is practising on you, you move.

"We are right in the midst of a nest of batteries, big and little, but as our little French-Canadian messman puts it, 'If I hear whizz-z-z bang, I know that's Fritz; if I hear bang---whizz-z, it's all right, that's us.' Fritz is the common name for any and all Germans. One never hears them called anything else.

"At present we are having a very easy time here. The horses are about two miles off and so don't bother us. The only thing is that we must be ready to turn out and open fire any hour, day or night. We have tests every now and then, and perhaps it will surprise you to hear that on an alarm being sounded at night, when all but the guards are asleep, within 15 seconds all four guns will be reported 'ready,' waiting orders to fire on any target.

"But, better than this, the guns are always loaded and laid on the enemy's trenches, and in case a call for help comes from our own trenches, within fifteen seconds of the time the signal was sent by our men, four shells would have burst in the enemy's trenches. This is not theoretical; it has been done and can be done again."

MANY MCGILL MEN IN IRISH RANGERS

Hon. Colonel and O. C. Are Both McGill Men, as Well as Many N.C.O.'s.

The new Irish-Canadian battalion, which will commence recruiting for men in a few days, has in its ranks many McGill men, both students and graduates. The Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, is the honorary colonel of the battalion, and up to a few years ago was a professor in law at McGill.

The C. O. of the battalion, Lieut. Col. H. J. Trihey, is a graduate of McGill of the class of 1900. He was actively connected with athletics in general and hockey in particular.

Three undergraduates from the various faculties have enrolled as sub-alterns in the 129th—Lieuts. McDonald, Law '17; Walsh, '16, and Foran, Med. '20.

The acting paymaster of the regiment, the well-known footballer, St. Clair ("Sine") McEwen, is a graduate of Science '13.

The latest reports from the headquarters of the regiment are to the effect that a number of C.O.T.C. men have enrolled in the N.C.O. class, which now numbers about 80 strong.

CHARLIE MCCARTHY ENLISTS.

Charlie McCarthy, boxer and hockey player, has enlisted in C.P.A.S.C. at Quebec. McCarthy was coach of the McGill boxing squad for a time.

DEAN THORNTON ADDRESSES MEDS

Speaks of Mouth Conditions and Medicine.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

Nominees for Presidency of the Society for Coming Session Speak.

The Medical Society was given an address last evening by Dr. Thornton, Dean of the Dental Faculty. As on all previous occasions Dr. Thornton, who has become very well known among the medical students as a man of ingenious disposition, was extremely welcome. As usual his address was not only very interesting and practical for the medical student, but would prove even more interesting to the public, for whose benefit his remarks were mainly directed.

The meeting was called to order by the President, J. P. Affleck, who announced that the secretary, E. B. Carter was unable to attend on account of having contracted measles and was confined to the Alexandria Hospital.

After the minutes of the last meeting were read by the acting secretary, J. N. Belyea, Mr. Affleck announced that the surplus from the medical banquet had been increased to over fifty-five dollars by a contribution by Dr. Garrow. Other remarks made by the President were to the effect that the medical undergraduates should take an active interest in the election of officers for the students' society, and that the reading-room was in a deplorable condition on account of the thoughtlessness of certain members of the Society who were destroying their own property.

Dr. Thornton was then introduced as the man who was responsible for the great success of the Dental Department and who had established a precedent by organizing a dental clinic for the members of the fourth year Meds. Great credit is due Dr. Thornton for having done so much in the five years which he has been at McGill.

Dr. Thornton's subject was "Some Dental Conditions as Related to General Medicine."

"The word doctor as applied to members of the healing art in the earlier days was suggestive of curing the sick. This idea now of the interpretation of the word is quite incorrect as his duty is now preventative rather than curative. As an illustration: While in England last summer Colonel Adams explained that of all those who had gone overseas to serve in the British Army and who had been previously inoculated, only six contracted typhoid fever and but two cases were fatal.

"It is important that the medical man should know some of the common things that he might meet with in country places, relative to the intelligent treatment of a patient's teeth.

"When a patient comes with aching teeth the usual thing is to apply the forceps. This is radically wrong. The first thing of importance, is to relieve pain. The cause of the pain is either the presence of live or dead pulp. If the pain is noticed when hot or cold liquids are taken into the mouth, there is evidence that the nerve is alive and pain is caused by the swelling or contraction of the tissues around the nerve according as it is warmed or cooled by the liquids. If the nerve is dead the alteration of temperature will not be the determining factor in causing pain.

"In the former case pain will be relieved by applying beechwood creosote, or carbolic acid. The usual way has been to just apply it with a large piece of cotton saturated with creosote which will naturally inflame the tissues all around the tooth. The correct way is to first remove the cause before applying anything and then wash the mouth out well with water. Make a small cotton wad, saturate it with the solution, then carefully place it in the carious tooth so that no other tissues can be affected. If for any other cause there is pain, the medical man can do little to relieve it. The cause of the pain is a dead nerve which gives off gases that keep irritating the tissues in the region of the tooth. This condition is relieved by cold applications to bring about constriction of the blood vessels thereby reducing the pressure of the gases by their consequent contraction. Acetate of iodine is good to bring about this action. The main point for the medical man is to differentiate between live and dead nerve. A response to cold and heat means that it is alive. If cold relieves then it is dead. The dentist, who knows the methods, opens up the ne-

Wake Up!

At the Arts Undergraduate Society smoker last night, Dr. W. Caldwell, in his prelude to his Gaelic song, made some remarks relative to amusing oneself and amusing others, which in their principle can be applied most aptly to conditions which prevail. As Dr. Caldwell said he believed that in the fairly large concourse of men who were listening to him were several who could have given a number in the entertainment which composed the evening. The results of the call by the chairman for volunteers were sadly lacking in quantity at least, and the whole event was typical of much of what college life has been this year. At an affair of that sort anyone at all who has the most rudimentary ability to make people laugh, cry or sit up, should make it a point to offer their services and aid the unfortunate promoters of the ceremonies.

Now, this applies just as well to other college business. This lack of initiative is the real reason for all this accumulation of office which we hear so much about. Let any one show any eagerness to amuse, work and carry on something for somebody, and there is no danger of his being kept below the surface by the notorious cliques which abound in the heated minds of the "dead-heads."

Again, referring to last night's affair, that it was an Arts Faculty evening is perhaps the most unworthy part of the whole thing. Prospective B.A.'s should be first and foremost humanists, with a tendency to be of aesthetic influence as well as practical use to their fellow-beings.

This is a lesson which can very properly be taken seriously to heart by every student in the University who is unable to do the biggest work at the front, but has got the opportunity to retain the standard of his college for those who hope to return to it later on.

McGILL STUDENT ESTATE TRUSTEE

Under the Will of the Late John Scully of Rawdon, P.Q.

The will of the late John Scully, Rawdon, P.Q., dated February 5, 1916, was probated recently on the petition of Edward Kirk, a McGill student, trustee of the will, who was, by the will, given full power and authority to sell and dispose of all the estate where necessary and execute any and all documents requisite to carry out the will, and should he wish to retire, he is authorized to appoint a successor.

The following bequests are made in the will: Mrs. John Callaghan, nee Catherine Scully, $600; Miss Margaret Lachapelle, $500; Mrs. Griffin, nee Mary Kirk, $500; the three daughters of Thomas Scully $100 each; to the daughter of James Scully $150; Miss Florence Trump $50.

The deceased made no provision as to the rest and residue of his estate, leaving this blank.

ROADS ASSOCIATION.

In response to a call issued by the Texarkana Board of Trade, about 50 delegates from a number of surrounding counties met in Texarkana, Tex., to form the Four States Highway Association, the object of which is to be the building of good roads in the surrounding territory.

Organization was effected by the election of George R. Payne, of Texarkana, president; Dr. M. V. Newman, of Fouke, vice-president, and Frank F. Quinn, of Texarkana, secretary and treasurer. It was agreed that each county shall have a separate organization of its own, and that each county shall have equal representation in the central organization.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS.

All infantry units in Canada are being supplied with the Lewis-Savage automatic rifle for aircraft work. It is said that each battalion will be equipped with eight of these handy and useful guns, and will probably be distributed two to each company of an overseas unit. These will be supplementary to the four Colt machine guns for the M. G. section of each battalion.

COLUMBIA FOR FOOTBALL.

Elaborate Interclass Schedule Arranged for Next Fall.

For the first time since the fall of 1909 Columbia University will have real inter-class football next October. T. Nelson Metcalf, coach of the varsity eleven on Morningside Heights, has announced an arrangement, according to which each class will be represented by a football team, which will play two games against each other class, or six games in all. There will, therefore, be twelve games in the round robin tournament, with an intramural championship hanging on the outcome. For the present, at least, the system will be limited to the classes of Columbia College.

The candidates for the class teams will practice with the varsity and freshman football squads during the entire season, thus extending the benefits of football to a large number of students who have hitherto shared in the game only from the sidelines. Before each varsity contest a list of sixteen men will be posted who will form the varsity squad, and who will consequently be ineligible for the class teams. It is likely that two freshman teams will be formed, one for outside games and the other for the interclass football series.

Metcalf's project already has met with widespread approval, both in the ranks of the faculty and among the students. Spectator, the undergraduate daily publication, says of it:

"If controlled as efficiently as last fall's results promise, this new policy of Coach Metcalf means that football will be a real college sport, in which nearly every college man can find both physical training and diversion. It means the extension into another sport of the experiment being tried in crew, and the same benefits are bound to accompany both ventures."

"But the new football policy has an even deeper significance than this. It is a further answer from Columbia College to the opponents of football—to those who argued that the return of the sport would mean the further commercialization of athletics without direct physical benefit to any of the students except the score of athletes that survive the final cut in the squad."

"It reflects the sincere desire of the college to make football helpful to as many as possible and to eradicate once and for all the objectionable

OSLER AGAINST REPRISALS CRY

Noted Physician Does Not Believe in Such Measures.

NO NEEDLESS BLOODSHED

Says That the Nation Does Not Desire the Reproaches of Humanity.

—In a letter to The London Times, Sir William Osler, M.D., '72, says: "The cry for reprisals illustrates the exquisitely hellish state of mind into which war plunges sensible men. Not a pacifist but a 'last ditcher,' yet I refuse to believe that a nation how bitter soever the provocation, we shall stain our hands in the blood of the innocents. In this matter let us be free from blood-guiltiness, and let not the undying reproach of humanity rest on us as on the Germans."

The name of Lieut. W. E. Bull, Sci. '15, Canadian Engineers, wounded, has been removed from the list of seriously ill.

Lieut. E. F. Newcombe, Law '13, of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, recently wounded, is progressing favorably in a London hospital.

Lieut. G. Boyd Webster, Sci. '10, Royal Engineers, recently wounded, is now a patient in the Queen Alexandra Hospital in London. Mrs. George R. Webster, of Toronto, his mother, has sailed to be with him.

Lieut. F. C. Badgley, Sci. '16, is now acting officer commanding the ammunition column, 1st Brigade, of Field Artillery, 1st Division, C.E.F.

The Daily has to thank Lieut. H. Don Henry, Arts '14, 15th Duke of Connaught's Own Overseas Battalion, Vancouver, for copies of "The Revue," the battalion newspaper just inaugurated. The Revue is a news sheet, well made up, and should be a decided help in furthering esprit de corps in the newly-formed unit.

Gunnery C. W. Boast, Sci. '17; A. A. Brown, Sci. '18, and P. G. Routhwaite, Sci. '16, have been promoted bombardiers in the Montreal Heavy Brigade, Canadian Artillery.

Rev. Charles W. Shelley, graduate of the Montreal Presbyterian College in 1909, has resigned the charge of the First Presbyterian Church, Brockville, to become chaplain of the 50th Battalion, C.E.F.

Lieut. C. C. Graham, past student, attached to the 53rd Battery, C.F.A., at Kingston, was at the Union yesterday.

A NEW UNIVERSITY UNIT FOR TORONTO

Authorized to Raise an Overseas Officers' Training Co.—Prof. Needler in Command.

Besides a battery of artillery, an overseas training company for officers will be raised this term at the University of Toronto. The authorization of this new unit has just been received by President Falconer from Ottawa, and its formation, together with that of the artillery battery, has been approved by Gen. Logie, O.C. the Second Division. Yesterday both units were officially endorsed by the University of Toronto through the Board of Governors.

The command of the new training company has been given to Prof. Needler, of the German Department, U.C., and at present Captain of "B" Company of the Toronto C.O.T.C. Prof. M. W. Wallace, of the English Department, and Captain of "A" Company of the C.O.T.C., has been appointed as second in command.

The training company will train for a short time in Toronto, and will then be moved to England or France. It will be made up of university students, graduates, and men of similar type, all of whom will enlist as privates for overseas service, and train as such until they are given appointments as officers.

No one will be taken into the ranks who is not capable of ultimately becoming an officer, and it is expected that the company will be kept near to the scene of action, so that there may be a reserve of capable officers to fill up the vacancies in the Canadian lines.

Arrangements are being made to allow students to complete their annual examinations before becoming permanently attached to the training company.

features that once brought the game into disfavor.

"Columbia is to be congratulated on having a man like Coach Metcalf in charge of the new era of football." Other football innovations which Metcalf has announced are occasional spring practice for punters and drop kickers and a demonstration talk on football theory each Wednesday evening during the spring for all varsity candidates.

FINAL MEETING OF CERCLE FRANCAIS

An Especially Interesting Programme Has Been Arranged by President.

A. M. Terroux, Arts '18, has taken a great deal of trouble to make special arrangements for the final meeting of this club on Wednesday night, which will take the form of an informal dinner.

The Cercle this year has been one of the most flourishing of the minor clubs, due to the untiring co-operation of the honorary president with the executive. A full turn-out is therefore urged for the dinner in the Union at 6.30 p.m.

Many of the members have enlisted during the present session, and the dinner will take the form of a final send-off. Among this number is Secretary Chazeau, whose absence will be strongly felt.

JUNIORS WIN HARD-FOUGHT GAME

Defeat Bishop's College by Score of 8 to 1—Fraser Starred for McGill.

In a fast interesting game the McGill Juniors defeated Bishop's College by a score of 8 to 1.

From the very first the McGill boys started to rush matters, and in a very few minutes had scored three goals. Two of these were very fluky, both hitting the skate of one of the defence men.

Matters now started to liven up, and both sides did some fine work. "Bill" Fraser made a rush, and defencing over the sticks of the two defence men, put the puck in the net with a pretty shot. Poe and Lowry showed some fine combination, and Lowry scored twice in quick succession. Shortly after this half-time was called. Score, 6 to 0.

When the teams came on the ice for the second half, the play livened up, but neither team was able to score for a long time. After about eight minutes of fast hockey, Bishop's scored a goal on a long shot. This seemed to encourage them, and they started in to cut down McGill's lead. At this period of the game they were playing rings around the McGill boys, but Stewart was right there in goal, and they failed to score again. The McGill forwards at last found their stride again, and Fraser scored a beauty with a long shot from the corner.

With three minutes to go, Fowler scored again on a rush. Time was called with both teams in a mix-up in the corner of the rink. Final score: McGill 7, Bishops 1.

The game was very free from roughness throughout, no penalties being handed out.

The Bishop's team were very anxious for a return game to be played in Lennoxville next Saturday, but owing to the lateness of the season the McGill boys decided they could not accept the invitation to play at Lennoxville.

N.Y. UNIVERSITY REPORT.

Schools of Law and Commerce Only Ones to Show Balance.

The annual report of William M. Kingsley, treasurer of New York University, for the year ending June 30, 1915, shows a net deficit on operations amounting to $30,956.27. This is the greatest deficit ever announced by that institution and exceeds that of the previous year by $11,308.49. The rapid increase in the registration of the various schools in the institution is seen when Mr. Kingsley announces that the income from students' fees was $510,044.44, or $58,569.29 more than the income from that source for 1913-1914.

With the exception of the Law School and the School of Commerce, seven divisions operated on financial losses. The Law and Commerce schools gained $3,160.53 and $38,252.75 respectively, while the remaining colleges show the following deficiencies: College of Art and Pure Science, $19,776.94; School of Applied Science, $13,049.87; Summer School, $1,670.43; Graduate School, $4,181.98; School of Pedagogy, $3,760.29; Washington Square College, $3,327.01, and Medical College, $18,437.30.

As indicated by the report, the consolidated endowment fund for the period covered was $1,208,553.25, while the special endowment fund amounted to $101,753.67. For the work of the university proper $667,935.06 was spent, larger than the previous year by $75,543.63. Of that sum $444,265.86 was appropriated for educational purposes, such as cost of construction, maintenance of libraries and laboratories, prizes and scholarships.

Gifts and bequests to the university aggregated $45,745.85 during the year ending June 30, 1915, and $27,217.37 was added in the six months to January 1, 1916.

The gifts included the following: Dr. W. H. Nichols, for the Havemeyer Laboratory, $4,000; $1,250 from several donors for the W. K. Gillett Fund, $923 for Commerce Building

At the Theatres

HIS MAJESTY'S.

A commentary on the great minds, ability and resourcefulness of the compatriots of Disraeli, and how prejudices ages-long have been swept away in modern times by the achievements of his successors in public and private life is the theme of "The House Next Door," by J. Hartley Manners, the author of "Peg O' My Heart." It will be played next week by the George F. Driscoll Players at His Majesty's Theatre, and William Webb, the playing director and finished character actor will give a portrayal of Sir John Coltswood, in which he has been very successful.

For the week following "The House Next Door," when Cyril Maude is playing a week's engagement at His Majesty's Theatre. Mr. Driscoll has been asked to come to Toronto and play for recruiting purposes the successful melodramatic play of Walter Howard's, "The Story of the Rosary." The players will return to His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, for the week of March 27th.

IMPERIAL.

After a long reign as one of the world's greatest stars of the stage, the celebrated Anna Held, will make her first appearance in pictures in the French classic comedy, "Madame La Presidente," showing to-morrow, Monday and Tuesday. A distinct novelty of her screen appearance is the chance to see her do exclusively in pantomime her world famous song, "I Just Can't Make My Eyes Behave." Anna Held's motion picture success seems to be assured, as her powers as a pantomime expressionist have always been admitted. To use a theatrical phrase, she "gets it over" without uttering a word.

Ejected from the Hotel Boulogne after a gay party, Anna Held calmly establishes herself for the night in the house of Augustin Galipeau, the judge issuing the order. As Mme. Galipeau has just left for Paris, this makes extremely amusing complications. The flabbergasted magistrate's surrender to both Anna Held's threats and charms would be a story in itself were not the true zest of "Madame La Presidente" enacted shortly afterwards in no less a place than the respected old Ministry of Justice in Paris, when the august Minister himself takes up the task of the gay soubrette's cavalier. Anna Held has often been referred to as "She of the Naughty Eyes," and this sparkling French comedy is full of humorous moments caused merely by Anna's beguiling wink. The sparkle and joyousness of the play is seen to perhaps better advantage upon the screen than the stage, as will be noted in the adventures through which the producer leads the three skylarking junior magistrates of the little town of Gray.

Some very novel and interesting big scenes are introduced into the Metro production, "The Lure of Heart's Desire." An entire Alaskan town was built in the Adirondacks specially for this production, and a very joyous New Year's eve party was actually photographed in the famous Murray's restaurant in New York. The story deals with a vivid phase of life in the Alaskan wastes, and in sharp contrast a stirring picture of society and life along the Great White Way. Edmund Breeze, who will be remembered by his skillful work in "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," plays the lead.

The series of travel pictures which are being shown conduct tours through all the leading cities and countries of the world, giving the public the opportunity which only the motion picture can.

Miss Josephine Carr, who next week will give vocal numbers, is an artist of talent, and has appeared in many of the large concert halls.

RE-UNION DINNER.

Practically all arrangements have been made for the first mid-winter reunion dinner of the class of 1915 of Brown University. The class will assemble at the Crown Hotel, Providence, on Saturday, March 18, with R. H. McLaughlin, '15, class president, as presiding officer. Among the speakers will be Professors Courtney Langdon and John F. Greene. A part of the evening will be devoted to the discussion and settlement of plans for the re-union of the class during commencement week.

ADDRESS ON LIQUID AIR.

The fourth lecture of the Half Hour Talks to Children Series arranged by the Natural History Society of Montreal will be delivered by H. E. Reilly, of the Physics department, McGill University, this afternoon in the lecture hall of Young Men's Christian Association, Drummond street, at 3 o'clock. The subject is "Experiments with Liquid Air." Interesting experiments will be made.

NEW RULES ARE BEING ADOPTED

American Universities Change Rules for Amateur Athletic

SPORTS AT HARVARD

Splendid Time Made in Events Held at Madison Square Garden.

This year will find competition in the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America on an even higher plane than ever before, following the adoption of the amateur code of rules drawn up by the sports governing bodies at the meeting held about two months ago. This action was taken at the annual meeting of the association held in New York city last Saturday. By adopting these rules the intercollegiate association becomes the first athletic body in the United States to take them up without change. Another act that is sure to raise the standard of competition this year is the awarding of the outdoor championship meet to the Harvard Stadium, May 26 and 27. The Stadium track is regarded as the fastest in this country, and as a rule one or more records are bettered when the competition is held there.

Following the recommendations of the executive committee made on Friday evening of last week, Leland Stanford, Jr. of University was admitted to membership, while the application of the University of Pittsburgh was rejected. C. S. Miller, representing Pittsburgh, announced that his university was willing to conform any of its eligibility rules to change any of the association if granted membership, and it was indicated that another application next year might be favorably considered.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance on hand March 1 of $1,281. There was a deficit of $1,500 caused by the holding of the first indoor championship meet last winter. The profit from the outdoor meet held at Franklin field, Philadelphia, last May, was $3,134.53.

Bowdoin College, College of the City of New York, Georgetown University and Lafayette College were each fined $25 for not filing reports of indoor meets, and Franklin & Marshall forfeited its membership for not complying with the rules regarding the entering of a specified number of men in the titular events.

A change was made in the by-laws of the association so that the executive committee has been increased from five to seven, including the president, ex-officio, and the following officers were elected for the current year: D. Lake, Princeton, president; Roger Evans, Dartmouth, and G. H. Kimber, Syracuse, vice-presidents; G. G. Brown, New York University, secretary; C. M. Heydecker, Columbia, treasurer; F. P. Clement, Harvard; A. H. Bunker, Yale; P. F. Sanborn, Cornell; F. E. Starrett, Brown; C. W. B. Townsend, Pennsylvania, and N. E. Tourtellotte, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, executive committee.

The following colleges were represented at the meeting: Brown, E. F. Starrett; College of the City of New York, L. P. Jones; Columbia, C. M. Heydecker and W. P. Pfeiffer; Cornell, P. F. Sanborn; Dartmouth, R. F. Evans; Fordham, F. J. Veuerbach, Jr.; Harvard, F. P. Clement; M. I. T., M. E. Tourtellotte; Lafayette, H. A. Bruce; Michigan, J. W. Finkenstaedt; New York University, G. G. Brown, W. F. Stroud, Jr., and W. H. Draper, Jr.; Penn. State, H. M. Smith; University of Pennsylvania, C. W. B. Townsend; Princeton, D. M. Lake; Syracuse, G. N. Kimber, and Yale, A. N. Bunker.

The second annual indoor championship meet of the association took place at Madison Square Garden last Saturday evening, and was a marked success. Profiting by the experience gained at the first meet last year, the management put this year's meet on a very high standard, and the competition in every event was close and of championship class.

A. W. Richards, of Cornell University, was the individual star of the meet, as he won two first places and a second. He won the high jump at 6 feet 3 ins., defeating Captain W. W. Oler, Jr., Yale, by an inch.

The 75-yard high hurdles were won by F. H. Starr, of Cornell, in 10 sec., and the team honors in this event also went to Cornell with 25 points, Penn. State coming second with 21. H. L. Smith, of Michigan, won the 70-yard dash in 7.5 sec., but Yale won the team honors with 27 points, Michigan coming second with 15.

There was some wonderful competition in the team relays with the four-man teams, each man running three laps, furnishing the best contest. This was won by the University of Pennsylvania, when Captain J. E. Merditt made up an 8-yard lead by Capt. W. J. Bingham, of Harvard, on the last relay and won out by a few feet. The time for this race was 4 min. 22 sec.

WOMEN GRADUATES INCREASE.

During the winter of 1915-16 the number of post-graduate women students in German universities increased by 900 and reached 4,820, says an overseas news agency item. Of these 300 were granted leave of absence because they were in the national war service.

Ninety-five post graduate women students already have been admitted to the new Warsaw university.

APPOINTMENT FOR CAPT. GORDON.

Capt. Huntly Gordon, son of Principal Gordon of Queen's University, is mentioned as a probable Commander of a new Army Service Corps unit to be organized in the 2nd Division, Toronto. Captain Gordon recently returned home on leave after serving for the last eighteen months with the A.S.C. mechanical transport with the Canadian forces at the front.

148TH EMPLOY NOVEL POSTERS

Mirror Scheme One of Unique Ideas Adopted.

MEN ENLISTING RAPIDLY.

Twenty Men Have Been Taken on Strength in Last Two Days.

The genius of recruiting officers throughout Canada has been taxed for many months in evolving new posters and other means of bringing home to every one the Empire's need of men.

It remained for the officers of the 148th Battalion to think out an absolutely unique scheme. It consists of a placard labelled: "This man is wanted." As the reader enquired who is "this man," he sees his own face reflected from a mirror half a foot square.

Hundreds of the placards have been made, and they will be suspended in elevators and other places throughout the city where one cannot escape seeing them.

Twenty men have been added to the strength of the 148th in the last two days, this being slightly under the daily average. Every effort is being made by the battalion to stimulate recruiting in the city, and throughout the division.

Captain Hooker has again left for Argenteuil County with a body of 30 men to be there until early next week.

Great interest is evinced in the outcome of the Board of Trade meeting held on Thursday afternoon. It is felt that the plain avowal of the slack state of recruiting will stimulate the business men of Montreal to come together to aid recruiting, and that the result will be a great impetus towards enlisting. If the present plans and ideas are adopted, as the outcome of the meeting, the need for enlistment will be brought strongly home to those who go but have not made any effort to do so.

On Thursday morning the battalion paraded to the new Grand Theatre at 11.30, being the guests of the theatre at the stirring war pictures, "The Martyrs of Alamo."

Lieut.-Colonel A. A. Magee is also using his battalion as a recruiting medium, and each day a number of men are placed "on command" and sent out to recruit among their friends and acquaintances. This method will gradually be increased until the battalion is up to strength.

Among those who have recently enlisted are:

A. L. Turner, of Montreal, who was one year with the 58th Westmount Rifles and three years with the Royal Engineers, Territorial. He has one

MUNROE DOCTRINE DECLARED FAILURE

Prof. Lima, of Harvard, Says it Fails as a National Policy.

"If the Monroe Doctrine continues to be but a national policy of the United States, it is doomed to failure," said Dr. M. de Oliveira Lima, Professor of South American History and Economics at Harvard University, in addressing the members of the Policy Club of Princeton University, at a fireside smoker held the other evening. "Provided it ceases to be merely a policy of the United States alone and becomes a continental policy, the aspect changes, and with every nation on the two continents joining in to protect themselves and their neighbors against any European aggression, the Doctrine can become a powerful factor in American affairs."

Dr. Lima emphasized throughout his speech the fact that the opinion of the South American countries was that the Monroe Doctrine has not had in the past any powerful influence in maintaining the integrity of the two Americas, and expressed the belief that it would not wield such an influence until it ceased to benefit the United States alone. Taking up the history of the Doctrine, he argued that in every application of it, instead of merely warding off the conquest of Latin America by European nations, it has always been turned to the advantage of the United States. To prove his point, he took the case of Cuba, which, with other similar cases, has aroused suspicion of the United States in South America.

In Brazil the suspicions regarding the motives of the United States are not so evident. In other countries, however, such things as the taking of Panama, and the actions of the United States in Porto Rico and Cuba make the Monroe Doctrine seem a farce to South Americans. Believing that the United States is working solely for its own benefit, the implied guardianship and sisterhood is irritating to them. Consequently, the Monroe Doctrine has embarrassed the United States diplomats in South America who are striving for good-will between the two continents.

LAURIER.

Tall, slim, and straight as a young Canadian pine. He bears his five and seventy years with grace and dignity. Him have we known from childhood, and revered.

As one above the common rank of men.

Open brow, bespeaking honesty, steadfast eye and kindest smile withal.

A courteous gentleman, in broadest sense.

Our "Grand Old Man" inspires respect and love.

From follower and foe in politics alike.

A striking figure, one to pass and note in street or club;

An orator, a student and a sage, in one;

Truly the "House" is blessed in having such a man

To guide in matters, needing tact and policy.

Battles a'many he has fought with silvery tongue, and losing.

Showed no vile, venomous spleen.

But, proffered hand to foe victorious, and smiling, dignified.

Assumed the role of Opposition leader.

A knight is he, of whom all Canada is proud;

Burying party strife, he only strives for what will benefit his beloved birthland.

Bestowing freely his wide experience to that end;

And crosses swords, undaunted, with undiminished vim,

"Laurier," knight, gentleman and courier,

That silvery tongue has scathed us oft, and yet

Were we to know that tongue was still for aye,

Heads would be bowed, and hearts would ache with grief.

R.V.C. SPORTS TO BE HELD TO-DAY

The Final Event of the Season—Keen Competition in the Three-Legged Race.

Sports to-day in the R.V.C. gymnasium at 2 sharp. This is the culminating event of the athletic season and it is up to everyone to be in evidence. The varied programme which has been arranged by the executive is sure to prove of great interest and in several cases highly amusing. The walking head balance and three-legged races bid fair for this latter.

Competition for the several events promises to be very keen since representatives from each year have been practising enthusiastically. The class which obtains the highest score wins a point towards the inter-year banner. As it stands each of the three upper years has one point to their credit. Be on hand to help your class win!!

erotic tissue to allow the escape of the gas.

"Extraction of teeth. It is not only necessary to know how but which teeth, moreover, what is most important is whether or not to extract. Be careful for children in particular. The loss of a tooth sometimes is a very serious condition."

This point was well demonstrated by the use of lantern slides and models which the Doctor had prepared.

"When the face is swollen, it is due to an abscess and not an ulcer. The first thing then is to remove the cause of the irritation by extracting the carious tooth. There will then be less likely an infection when the abscess is opened up."

"Certain Toronto men hold that when the nerve is dead, the tooth should be extracted, but this is not according to experience nor common sense, for the nerve can be dead without there being death of the tooth."

"In order to remove teeth it is first of all necessary to have the proper forceps, not one pair, but six pairs at least. The forceps must be appropriate to properly fit the teeth."

"Many mistakes are made in the treatment of alveolar abscesses. The patient is usually advised to poultice the outside. This invariably leads to an external fistula and ultimately to a cicatrix. The poultice should be placed inside which can be done very simply, then a compress is put on the outside. This is done by painting with collodion. The abscess is then lanced on the inside at the proper time."

"Extraction during pregnancy. Some women are very fearful about having a tooth pulled during pregnancy and hence the result is detrimental both for the mother and the child. There is too much mock-modesty in the world! A certain case lately treated together with past experience, illustrated that it is best for the woman to have a temporary filling put in or else if absolutely necessary, for the benefit of the child and mother, to have the tooth extracted."

"Be sure to extract the right tooth. This advice is not out of place. Pain may be felt in the lower tooth when the corresponding upper tooth is the real cause. Only a few days ago, a patient was complaining of pain in a sound tooth, and insisted upon having the tooth extracted, but after the extraction of a carious tooth remote from the painful region, no more pain was felt."

"Frequently associated with pregnancy, is a bluish growth from the roots of a tooth. Such is no cause for an operation. After the child is born, the epulis will disappear."

"A doctor frequently meets with antrum trouble. If the antrum is full of pus, there is pressure on the eye and a bulging is on the roof of the mouth. When lying on one side, pus will drain through the middle meatus into the nasal cavity. A tooth whose root enters the antrum should be extracted to let out the pus."

"In case of a fracture of the jaw, the muscles cause a displacement of the above."

Dr. Thornton here showed various contrivances for supporting the bones until reunion occurs. One was to make a splint of vulcanite to fit the jaw internally. The mandible is then firmly held in place by external bandaging. A tooth may be extracted for the purpose of feeding. Another method was by making a metal splint and firmly fastening it to the teeth, where it is left for from two to three weeks until reunion of the bone. The patient thus has free use of the jaw in the meantime.

"It is important to understand what normal occlusion means, every cusp interdigitates with every other cusp, that is, every tooth except the dentals in front and the third upper molars come in contact with two other teeth normally, i.e., one tooth above meets two teeth below, one below meets two above. This is extremely important in the consideration of mastication and growth of the teeth."

"A haemorrhage can be stopped best after extraction of tooth by plugging the pocket with cotton soaked with

MEETING HELD BY MCGILL A.A.

Four Small Block M's Granted to Hockey Juniors.

A NEW POLICY SUGGESTED

To Secure the "Prep." School Athletic Records of New First-Year Men.

A meeting of the Athletic Association was held in the Union last night at 5 p.m., those present being Messrs. Cushing, Wilson, Andrews, Woollett, Lamb and Gerrie.

The first item of business brought up was the granting of the small block M's to the members of the junior hockey team who had played the requisite number of games. As the juniors this year were the equivalent of the intermediate team, had there been any intercollegiate hockey, it was thought that these men were entitled to the small block letter. Those who qualified were: A. S. Poe, Sci. 17; J. Nutter, Sci. 18; L. Lowry, and W. L. Fraser, Sci. 17.

The following men played the required number of games, but, being freshmen, could not get their letters: M. Stewart, O. Trainor and W. Fowler.

An application from M. I. Sigler, Arts '16, for reinstatement, was made. After some discussion it was decided to leave this over for the present.

A communication from the secretary of the Football Club was then read, suggesting that the secretary of the Athletic Association write the association of the various "prep" schools and colleges with a view to getting a line on the athletic material coming to McGill each fall. It was thought that this was a good suggestion, as it has happened several years that good men have come to college but have never turned out for athletics until their second or third year. This could to a large extent be avoided if the different executives had the names of men who had made good in their branch of athletics before entering college.

The meeting put itself on record as being quite in favor of this suggestion, and with a view to assisting in this policy a recommendation was forwarded to the Students' Council that these schools be placed on the mailing list of the McGill Daily.

The secretary of the Football Club also informed the association that in the event of there being no intercollegiate football next fall, and the same arrangements were made as this year, they would be strongly against the granting of letters. The reasons for the club taking this attitude was explained by Mr. Woollett, president of the Football Club, but the association decided to leave this matter over to the incoming executive. After a lengthy discussion on this, the meeting adjourned.

TEXAS TRAINING SCHOOL.

Not only is the National Guard of Texas assured an encampment this year, but a school will be held for the training of the officers and non-commissioned officers of the militia, according to Brig.-Gen. Cecil Lyon. The officers' school will be held at Camp Mabry, Austin, during the latter part of May or the early part of June. The encampment will probably be held at Leon Springs, near San Antonio, in July.

ANOTHER MOTOR AMBULANCE.

Employees of the Dominion Coal Company have decided to present a motor ambulance to St. Francis Xavier University unit, costing approximately $2,600.

adrenalin and then placing a small cork on this and allow the patient to compress it with the other jaw.

"All roots of all teeth point backward. Interference with normal occlusion may lead to a retraction of the lower jaw."

"Never extract teeth because they are irregular. It is like removing a stone from an arch. The difficulty is only exaggerated, because of causing a greater defect in the already impaired arch."

"Treatment of carious teeth neglected in children is almost certain to cause adenoids. This leads to sub-normal children in our schools."

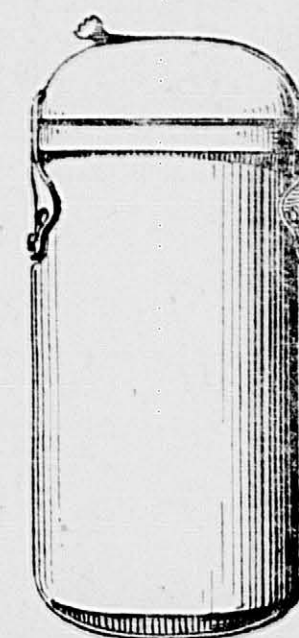

"If teeth are extracted too early in children there will always be an abnormal development of the jaw."

"Never put a gold crown on a tooth. It is the height of vulgarity. Every man who does such a thing should be prosecuted. It is like putting a gold cap on one's nose."

T. C. Wolff moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Thornton, especially for having organized a dental clinic for the fourth year men. This motion was seconded by J. D. Moore, '17.

H. H. Pitts, '18, was elected treasurer of the Medical Society. The nominees for the presidency of the Medical Society for the coming session were announced as Messrs. G. E. D. Desaulnier, F. J. Scully and T. C. Wolff. The election will take place at the next and last meeting of the Medical Society.

Refreshments were then provided and a violin solo rendered by J. A. O'Regan, '16.

But you!

Friends ain't nuthin',
Cash ain't nuthin',
Life ain't nuthin',
That's true,
Time ain't nuthin',
World ain't nuthin',
There ain't nuthin',
But you!

Perhaps You Know Him.

Young Binks has lost his job. Ah, me!
It was an awful shock.
He looked for opportunity,
But always watched the clock.

Andy—"Why don't you sell those squeaky boots?"
Steve—"I came near selling them yesterday."

Andy—"How's that?"
Steve—"I had them half sold."
(The doctor says he will be able to be up and around in a couple of weeks.)

They were two Science students attending a certain show down town. Said one:

"Do you see that girl in blue near this end of the chorus?"
"Yes," answered the other. "What about her?"

"Well," returned the first, "she promised her mother that she would never be an actress."

"Well?"

"She isn't," said his companion.

Restful.

I wish I was a little rock,
A-settin' on a hill,
And don't nothin' all day long,
But just a-settin' still.

I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't drink,
I wouldn't even wash,
But set and set a thousand years
And rest myself, by gosh!

I. J. P.

It will be remembered, by the elite who read this column, that some time ago a most charming poem was written about us by I. J. P. It consisted chiefly of remarks about prunes, loons, moons, etc. We passed over the insult, but last week another poem from the same pen, though not directed against us, was launched on the unprepared world. The office muse was moved to commemorate the event by the following:

Ah! tell me, please, what sounds are these,
That float on high upon the breeze,
And tame the savage brute?
What I see?

'Tis I, J. P.
Who tunes once more her lute.
I often wonder, why in thunder,
Nature ever made the blunder
In evolving this.
You must admit,
She made no hit
In making it a miss.

Oh, fairest one, my race is done,
I freely hand to you a bun,
I've said my say
I've had my say
And pass away,
Glad to escape alive.

Yet tho' I hope, there is one hope
Comes to me when I read your dope,
And ponder o'er your verse,
Fierce tho' it be,
Full well I see
There's sure to follow worse.

So if to-day, when I essay,
Some wise advice to give, you'll stay
And hearken to my tip,
Ah, prithee, shun
The awful pun
And flee the merry Quip!

Try not the jest, avoid it, lest
Fierce wrath it raise in human breast.
Now, fair one, do not pant,
When truth you see,
Be warned by me,
'Twere best to cut it out.

"R. I. P."

Army Atrocity.

A sergeant-major of the Fifth Overseas Company walked up St. Catherine to Stanley street last night and went into a picture show. While walking up the aisle he was greeted with the shout of "Where are your puttees?" Looking down he discovered that a pair of grey socks covered, as far as they were able, his lower extremities. The sergeant-major retreated in disorder.

ANNUAL MEETING MCGILL Y.M.C.A.

Louis Derrer Elected President for Ensuing Year.

REPORTS RECEIVED.

An Account Given of Work Done by the Field Branch at the Front.

The Annual Meeting of the McGill Y.M.C.A. was held last evening at 7.15. The attendance was not large, but the business was conducted in a very satisfactory manner.

After the usual opening and reading of minutes, reports from the convenors of the various committees were called for. The first report submitted was that of the reading Board. In part it reads as follows:

"We feel that it is quite unnecessary for us to remark that the unprecedented conditions prevailing throughout this country have resulted in such a change in personnel and temperament of our student community as to have made it necessary for us to modify our usual policy and activities in certain important respects, in order to accommodate them to existing circumstances.

"On the one hand we have found it necessary and prudent to temporarily discontinue certain departments of our work, while on the other hand, new fields of service which have called for a considerable outlay of energy and funds, have been opened to us.

"The most successful and outstanding feature of our work throughout this term has been composed of the maintenance of a McGill Y.M.C.A. at the front, with the members of the McGill Hospital. The success with which this undertaking has met, has more than repaid the efforts which it has caused. During the training camp which was held by the C.O.T.C. at Niagara-on-the-Lake during the month of May last, our workers were enabled to demonstrate to all in attendance at the camp the practical value of the services which the Young Men's Christian Association, if properly administered, can render under such circumstances.

"Our Board feels specially thankful that at a time when the Association has been afforded such a splendid opportunity to present the claims of Christianity in a practical manner, that we have been so fortunate as to be in possession of the services of such a capable general secretary as Mr. Corbett, whose work along these lines has been of the most effective character."

The work of Mr. Nichols, who commenced the year with the retiring Board, was also mentioned as having been greatly appreciated. At present the Board is fortunate in being able to avail itself of the services of Mr. Tsolainos, who has already proven himself to be a very efficient and energetic Associate Secretary.

During the present term the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the Association has rendered invaluable assistance and the Board expressed its deep appreciation of their untiring efforts and of their great generosity.

The report of the Bible Study Committee was next read. The following is a brief statistical report of the year's work:—There were enrolled in all our classes about two hundred students, not including those who are actively engaged in the various churches of the city. Twelve classes with a weekly attendance of one hundred studied Fosdick's "Manhood of the Master." Another class of ten devoted its time to the study of the Old Testament. A class averaging twelve took up "Christ's Message for the Kingdom." A group of six met once a week for prayer and a study of Fosdick's "Meaning of Prayer." Two High School classes with a membership of 42 were conducted by Mr. E. A. Corbett and Mr. H. Nichols.

Dean Adams also gave four most helpful lectures—dealing with important religious questions. The average attendance at these meetings was 25. The thanks of the Board are due Dr. Robt. Johnson for the faithful and able way in which he conducted a class for the group leaders.

Reports from the Social Service and New Student work followed. G. Heslam commented on the nature of the new student report and expressed his opinion that the McGill handbook should, under no circumstances short of the closing of the University, be dropped. The financial end of the handbook was, owing to Mr. Heslam's efforts, more successful this season than heretofore.

The Social Committee reported an expenditure of nearly $200 for social affairs. The feature of this committee's work has been the skating parties which have been held during the winter.

The financial statement presented by Mr. Walter Sutherland showed the affairs of the Association to be in a satisfactory condition.

The Religious Meeting Convenor gave a brief report. Mr. Corbett then read a report from the Field Service Branch of the McGill Y.M.C.A. This is the first such report presented at an annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Among other items of interest was a programme for week ending Saturday, February 26th.

Sunday, February 20th, 5.45 p.m.—Evening service.

Sunday, February 20th, 8.45 p.m.—"Sing."

Monday, February 21st, 8.30 p.m.—Elementary French Class.

Tuesday, February 22nd, 4.00 p.m.—Princess Victoria Concert Party (for patients and night staff).

Tuesday, February 22nd, 8.30 p.m.—Advanced French class.

Wednesday, February 23rd, 8.30 p.m.—Bible class.

Thursday, February 24th, 8.30 p.m.—Elementary French class.

Friday, February 25th, 5.45 p.m.—Cinema (patients).

Friday, February 25th, 8.30 p.m.—Cinema (personnel).

A concise statement such as this is sufficient to show the work of the Overseas Branch of our Association. Mr. H. Church gave the report of the House Committee. Among other things it was noted that about $75 had been spent on the reading room. Also that the receipts from the billiard room were increasing since the rates had been lowered.

The Nominating Committee, having previously conferred, submitted the report to the Board.

The following men were elected as members of next year's Executive:—President, Louis Derrer; Vice Pres., to be appointed; Treasurer, H. R. Morgan; Chairman, Social Service Committee, Clifford Heaney; Chairman, New Student Work, Allan Hawthorne; Chairman, Bible Study Work, H. E. Reilly, M.Sc.; Chairman, House Committee, H. Church; Chairman, Social Committee, Fred Beckwith; Chairman, Mission Study, to be elected; Chairman, Religious Meeting, to be elected; Student Member of Advisory Board, Gordon Heslam.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Ladies' Auxiliary for their splendid work and substantial support during the year; also to the ladies of the R. V. C. for their hearty co-operation in the social events of the session. The McGill Daily was commended for its help and for the publicity it gave to Y. M. affairs.

The association expressed their appreciation in a vote of thanks to the editor and his staff for the time and space they gave to the Y.M.C.A.

The president-elect then took the chair. It was moved that owing to the hour the meeting adjourn until next Monday, when the new cabinet will discuss plans and means for the coming session.

MAJOR GAULT'S CASE IN SENATE

A Large Number of Senators and Members are Present.

An unusual flutter of excitement and interest was indicated in the precincts of the Senate divorce committee yesterday when the Hamilton Gault divorce case was taken up.

An array of counsel was present along with an unusually large attendance of Senators and members whose curiosity and concern in the case and in the parties themselves were not concealed.

Major Hamilton Gault, of Montreal, just back from the front with the Princess Patricia's, the regiment to whose organization he contributed heavily, is asking divorce from his wife, Marguerite Claire Stephens, daughter of the late Hon. G. W. Stephens, of Montreal. Major Gault is a past student of McGill.

Major Gault appeared and gave evidence while Mrs. Gault was also present. Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and Gordon MacDougall, of Montreal, appear as counsel for the petitioner, while Mrs. Gault is represented by Hartley Dewar, K.C., of Toronto, R. A. Pringle, K.C., and Norman Guthrie, of Ottawa.

The petition as signed in the Senate and Commons, and on the basis of which evidence was given today, alleges conduct by Mrs. Gault sufficient to justify dissolution of the marriage. The charge is vigorously denied and as indicated it will be fought out.

The case is likely to occupy the Committee's attention at several sittings. The co-respondent alleged in the petition is Bruce Bainsmith, an English officer.

CAP AND CROWN CUSTOM.

The class of 1916 at Smith College voted for the third time to wear caps and gowns at commencement, despite the adverse attitude of the faculty, the trustees, the alumnae council and the junior class.

The faculty, while they did not wish the seniors to wear caps and gowns, voted informally, however, that the seniors had the right to decide the question for themselves. The trustees have dismissed the question and indicated that they are not in favor of the change. They said, however, that the seniors had no right to decide the question. When the question was brought up before the alumnae council, it was felt that no one class ought to decide the taking of this radical step. The informal opinion that this body expressed was also against caps and gowns.

Judge—"Well, after the prisoner struck you a blow, what happened?"
Witness—"He gave me a third one."
Judge—"A second one, you mean, isn't it?"
Witness—"No; I gave him the second one."
